Celebrating a Legacy of Leadership, Vision, and Purpose

This booklet is a humble tribute from Bioseed Research Philippines Inc. to honor Dr. Paresh Verma, whose years of leadership and dedication have left a lasting mark on Bioseed and its people.

Dr. Verma's journey has been one of vision, passion, and heart, guiding teams, inspiring growth, and nurturing a culture built on trust and excellence. His influence has shaped not only the work we do, but the people we've become along the way.

As he steps into a new chapter, we celebrate a life's work that continues to inspire and remind us of what true leadership means.

With deep respect and gratitude,
The Bioseed Research Philippines Family and CommUNITY

Dear Pareshji,

As you step into retirement, it's hard to find the words to say goodbye to you who has meant so much to me not just as a leader, but as a source of strength, wisdom, and unwavering support.

Your retirement marks the most fruitful chapter in your journey. You've been the heart of Team Bioseed, the steady hand that guided us through challenges, and the voice that reminded us of our purpose when things felt uncertain. You didn't just lead—you inspired. You didn't just manage—you cared. And you didn't just build me alone, but you held my hand build a family, a transformed CommUnity away from my mother land.

You've led with integrity, inspired with vision, and supported us with unwavering commitment.

Your unbiased dedication, quiet wisdom, and genuine care have left a lasting mark not only on the company but on each of us personally. You taught us how to lead with integrity, how to listen with empathy, and how to rise above challenges with grace. Your presence brought calm in chaos and clarity in confusion.

It's hard to imagine our daily work without your steady hand and warm encouragement. But more than anything, I want to thank you—for believing in me and my capabilities as a leader to propel the Team Bioseed to grow, and by always reminding me of the people first attitude.

The listing that you did and the shoulder you rendered even when I pulled you into my personal and family affairs left a lasting gratitude and a soothing comfort. Thank you again for being my GUIDE and GURU, lifting my spirits every time I was on crossroads.

We will always remember your quiet encouragement during tough times, your laughter that lifted our spirits, and your belief in us even when we doubted ourselves. You taught me and my team that leadership is not about titles, but about compassion, courage, and connection.

As you step into this new chapter, know that you leave behind more than accomplishments—you leave behind a legacy of kindness, resilience, and love. We will carry your lessons with us, and your presence will echo in everything we do.

I hope you find joy in the little things, peace in the quiet moments, and fulfillment in all the dreams you've yet to chase. You deserve every bit of rest, adventure, and happiness that comes your way.

Thank you for everything. You will be missed more than words can say, but we celebrate this moment with full hearts and endless gratitude.

With all our love and admiration,

DEVADATTA
